
Font size

Posted by The Laird - 2007/09/07 15:06

any chance of bumping up the "normal" font size??These old peepers of mine don` t work too well with the current size

=====

Re:Font size

Posted by TLJ - 2007/09/07 17:42

Not immediately - but I'll work on it as soon as I have the chance !

=====

Re:Font size

Posted by The Laird - 2007/09/07 18:08

Thank you kind sir

=====

Re:Font size

Posted by TLJ - 2007/09/07 20:16

It is small, isn't it !

Your browser should have an option to increase text size. In Firefox, it's under "View"

=====

Re:Font size

Posted by The Laird - 2007/09/07 21:16

yes it does..but only for my input.Any other remains the forum default

=====

Re:Font size

Posted by The Laird - 2007/09/07 21:28

just been on another site and the font size was enormous from all inputs.strange that this site is different

=====

Re:Font size

Posted by DoricMan - 2007/09/08 11:49

TLJ wrote:

Not immediately - but I'll work on it as soon as I have the chance !I nearly missed this post TLJ.

Now for a tip I use daily in dealing with any size of font.

Press Ctrl and + to increase font size and press Ctrl and - to make it smaller. B)

=====

Re:Font size

Posted by TLJ - 2007/09/08 12:23

DoricMan wrote:

TLJ wrote:

Not immediately - but I'll work on it as soon as I have the chance !I nearly missed this post TLJ.

Now for a tip I use daily in dealing with any size of font.

Press Ctrl and + to increase font size and press Ctrl and - to make it smaller. B)

Thanks, DM, I didn't know that one.

The issue for The Laird is lightly different and it'll be bit of a trial and error for me. I have to work through a range of files trying to identify the key piece of code ...or I set up a new text-accessible template (which is always possible - I've come across a couple with a +/- option for text size)

Re:Font size

Posted by The Laird - 2007/09/08 12:35

Put it to the bottom of the priority list TLJ.I can put up with it as it is.

Re:Font size

Posted by TLJ - 2007/09/08 13:57

The Laird wrote:

Put it to the bottom of the priority list TLJ.I can put up with it as it is.

I'll get it done asap. I've found a template which might work reasonably well but it'll need some adjustments made to the colours. It's finding time which I know can be guaranteed NOT to have any interruptions.....