Russian Bombers waaaay to far south for comfort, just as diplomatic relations are just a tad strained!

Oh dear.....

Try reading this

http://www.mathaba.net/0_index.shtml?x=558529

Also "Crossing the Rubicon" by a guy called Michael Ruppert.

Its chilling and at least some of the chapters on oil, CIA and Wall St are thought provoking.

So blaming the Russians is asking the wrong questions.

WE are the problem, we are the ones engaged in blatant economic warfare to the death.

T.A.B. our previous PM should be held to account but won't be. Cos them that runs the place are doing very nicely thank you, and its not their kids doing the dying, or most of the addiction.:whistle:

Absolutely spot-on. We are the problem. The sooner "we" realize this the better. I have this terrible feeling we're all sleepwalking to disaster.
