
The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by Farrah - 2008/02/11 20:06

Tch, LJ. Don't you know that one doesn't have fog in Edinburgh? One has mist. :dry:

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by Farrah - 2008/02/17 19:18

Here's a handy hint. Always carry a tape measure on you person. If you can see less than 1 km through the cloud of water droplets, it is known as fog. If you can see between 1 and 2 km, it is called mist. You will also need a friend to stand at t'other end of the tape measure. Don't say you don't get yer education on Scotsgait. :laugh:

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by TLJ - 2008/02/17 19:25

Farrah wrote:

Here's a handy hint. Always carry a tape measure on you person. If you can see less than 1 km through the cloud of water droplets, it is known as fog. If you can see between 1 and 2 km, it is called mist. You will also need a friend to stand at t'other end of the tape measure. Don't say you don't get yer education on Scotsgait. :laugh:

What if you don't have a friend ?

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by Farrah - 2008/02/17 21:09

Never thought of that! I was kinda wondering if most folk carried around a 2km tape measure though. :laugh:

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by DoricMan - 2008/02/18 13:14

Has horizontal rain been demoted to a shower?

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by dws - 2008/02/18 21:02

Farrah wrote:

Tch, LJ. Don't you know that one doesn't have fog in Edinburgh? One has mist. :dry:

Next you'll be telling us that sex is what Edinburgh folk get their coal delivered in.;

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by Farrah - 2008/02/22 21:01

dws wrote:

Next you'll be telling us that sex is what Edinburgh folk get their coal delivered in.;

One wouldn't know Dws. Ones servants see to that surely? :unsure:

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by Bigman - 2008/02/24 23:37

Up the highlands, if you can see the mountains its going to rain.....

If you can't see the mountains its already raining!

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by dws - 2008/02/25 08:02

Argyll & Bute:

In the summer the rain gets warmer.:P

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by maria143 - 2008/02/26 15:54

It's summer all year around here....;)

=====

Re:The weather forecast on Scotsgait

Posted by slapdash - 2008/02/26 20:18

Who was it who said "Welcome to Scotland, , where we get 5 months of winter and 7 months of bad weather" ha ha ha ha :laugh:

=====