

---

The best Curry, where's your favorite?

Posted by Bigman - 2008/02/25 00:36

---

Now, i'm a man who loves a really good curry, not a take the lining off the top of yer mooth curry, what i mean is a good tasty curry, whether its a Tikka, Rogan josh, Bhuna, Vindaloo, Dopiza or even a Korma, whatever is yer thing, as well as reasonably priced, good service and a pleasant atmosphere!

This is the ones i love.

The Deli Darbar in Bishopbriggs, Bombay dreams in Cumbernauld, The Viceroy in Dunfermline and now, wow, the best one has to be the new one in Dunfermline.....Khushi's

Fantastic, this has to be the best Indian food i've tasted!

Tell us about some curry house in the country coz i love gan for a good Indian when i'm oot and about!

=====

Re:The best Curry, where's your favorite?

Posted by dws - 2008/02/25 08:06

---

The chicken Madras at the Cafe Lahore in Helensburghs pretty damn good (accompanied with a Peshwari Naan and a Kingfisher).:P

=====

Re:The best Curry, where's your favorite?

Posted by Levenax - 2008/02/25 09:43

---

After decades of eating curry my favourite is The Village Curry House in Nelson Street in Glasgow. They've got a cafe with an open plan kitchen so you can see the guys making your food. It can be a bit noisy especially early Saturday evening when the footie is on the telly but the food is just great. Gobi mushroom, veg palak and channa are my faves and their aloo naans are brilliant.

Another good one is Ann Purna in St Patrick's Square off Nicholson Street in Edinburgh. It's Gujerati vegetarian - top notch grub.

I should add that my home cooked curries are brill too. ;)

=====

Re:The best Curry, where's your favorite?

Posted by dws - 2008/02/25 16:35

---

Right! Everybody roond tae Levenax's hoose this Friday fur a Ruby!:laugh:

(Ah'll bring ra beer...)

=====

Re:The best Curry, where's your favorite?

Posted by Senga - 2008/02/26 11:54

---

Khushis in Mid Calder :)

=====