
Stranger than fiction - Cat predicts death of Hospice Patients

Posted by Kendomacaronbar - 2007/07/26 11:22

<http://www.cnn.com/2007/US/07/25/death.cat.ap/index.html>

This is a strange story from CNN's website.

An adopted cat seems to know the imminent death of terminally ill patients by curling up next to them a few hours before they pass away. ??

Uncanny, but make of it what you will !:unsure:

Post edited by: Kendomacaronbar, at: 2007/07/26 12:23

Re:Stranger than fiction - Cat predicts death of Hospice Patients

Posted by The Laird - 2007/07/26 12:11

i never have been a cat lover.Now i shall be more wary when i see one curling up near me:unsure:

Re:Stranger than fiction - Cat predicts death of Hospice Patients

Posted by dws - 2007/07/26 19:18

Spooky, eh?:ohmy:

I'm sure I read a scientific explanation (about dogs in this case) that they sense the chemical change within the body of a dying person and react to it.

Or could it be that the little buggers are harbringers of doom?:laugh:
