I got lost!! My PC crashed and I had to do a re-format, and lost a lot of links.. But thanks to TLJ's e-mail, I got back in here.

So expect me to stir things up again!B)

All you have to do is get hold of Acronis True Image Home or Pro and use it to do regular Image or Full backups. Another thing, put all your work in progress, say emails and the like on another Partition or another internal or external Hard Disk. If you need further advice let me know.B)

Hi! Doric Man, I now have an external hard drive on at all times which backs up everything when I shut down!

(Won't get caught like THAT again!)

Reminds me of a story:

A young lady from Newfoundland (a Newfie - a pejorative term that implies low intelligence) leaves the "rock" and moves to Toronto to start a new life in the big city. However, after a couple of months she is feeling rather lonely and decides to get out and meet people.

She goes to a nightclub and meets a guy. He wines her, he dines her, and eventually beds her. In the middle of passionate lovemaking she yells out:

"Wait a minute - wait a minute - you don't have aids do you?"

The guy responds:

"Hell no!"

Our lady replies:

"Thank god - I don't want that again!"

Welcome back Woodysdad.
