Thanks for all the kind words folks, she's home now and its a bit overwhelming to say the least!

She is a wee sweetheard, hardly greeting at all (no yet) and is such a contented wee soul, long may that last!

Intelligence ? That must be from the mother ! ;)

...or has Mum displayed a lack of it by choosing Bigman ? Oh dear, where did wee Daisy get it from then ? :woohoo:
:woohoo: :laugh:

Naw, well done again BM. Have you got her her season ticket yet ?

BIGMAN!!!!!!

I didnt know you had your wee baby!!!!!!

and i caint see the pics..:(

Im so glad she is safe and secure in your loving arms.. and the delivery went well!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!(smack on the bum for a job well done!)

Try to sleep when you can,Big Boy.. cause yer gonna need it!:P

Im sure she's a bundle of joy that gets plenty of coos and awes... Im totally jealous... i'd love to be holding a wee bundle...:blush: my wee bundle... pushes out of my arms.. to play outside.. or to play with the kids... he no longer needs me...(tears..) they grow so damn fast. enjoy the fact that Daisy(duke?;)) is not mobile yet.. and where you place her ... she stays!!!!!! she will be gettn round soon enough!!! Im so proud of you two... you take care and take care of the missus for me... I just wanna give her a wee break.. and help her bout... It gushes out of me.. cannae help it..) Keep her in good spirits..and watch out for the blues.... keep her eatn regularly..and plenty of fluids.. sometimes us moms.. forget to take care of ourselves... and just want to do for others.. ...dont give her heck.. if she stays in her jammies.. from the time you get home from work... give her a hand... so she can..spruce up... dont say negatives.. build her up... there will be plenty of moms and non moms that will be tearing her bricks down with all their..'sage' advice.. take it in stride..and...swallow it as suggestions.. and clear out!;) :blink:

i wish i could hold, Daisy.. but.. you can do it for me.... and tell me how proud papa feels..!!!!!! Keep us in the know, sweetie!!!!:)

Cheers to the proud papa!!! and... give her a wee kiss on the forehead for me..how precious!!!!:)

-Auntie Jaimekens is so happy!!!!:kiss:

:woohoo:

What a precious angel!!!!

she definitely is a special baby!! My baby had his shots today.. he held up for a while.. then he changed his mind.:blink: Its his last shots and he doesnt want to be on my lap anymore.. its summertime and he wants to PLAY!!! Even if he has a doo doo he rather run and play and hide than stop and be changed...:S He wants to put up a fight and kick out of his diaper than sit and be patient for me to wipe his bum.... He's an ornery cuss!;) But he is a precious sweetie too!

How IS your angel? How are YOU?
How's the big guy holdin up?:) Missn ya much! gotta get on to work give the missus a hug for me! Have a good time with the lil'n!!!!

Thanks for your good news Bigman, may baby Daisy continue to be a joy to you, your wife and your families.
One thing though boys are somewhat different when they grow up.
2 year old Sparky paid us a visit yesterday while his mum and dad did some shopping. Things went a little quiet at one point, and of course needed immediate investigation. There he was in the cloakroom, standing on the step stool, sink overflowing beautifully. Yanking the chortling miscreant out revealed some flood.
Girls Bigman do not do these things when they grow up.
Regards to you all.

Ah Doricman....They do worse...my daughter when she was 3 going on 4 decided to wash clothes...she did in the toilet and when she would loose the bar, she would get another and so on....and the she flushed...imagine water reaching the entrance of the livingroom (rug)...so squishing down the hallway I look into the bathroom and she just looking at it...

The bars of soap became bricks inside...could take them out and god knows what article went down the sewer...

Big Guy, thank you for small pleasures.. to see a baby again.. a wee one... its a treasure. I havent seen a small one in such a LONG time. I was afraid people done gave up on havin babies!

Lets see... Mine is smarting off and tellin me NO! with an evil ornery grin. Its always somethin he KNOWS he shouldnt do.. but he just enjoys my torment.:S

My daughter is in preschool and she LOVES IT!!!! She's a big girl now.. and she keeps showing me all the big things she can do and its a treat....most of the time.:blink: Really, its special to see her evolve within days and be a whole new self!! She no longer needs my help buckling her belts.. and zipping things.. she says NO, mom.. let ME do it...(tears) Ive been doin for so long.. its awkward not to. She talks my ear off about her day with such enthusiasm.. its a treat to hear it from 'her point of view'... its a treat to see her face glow with such excitement.

I hope you have been enjoying you bundles of love...

Maria.. i can attest to the toilet thing.. i dont know WHY they are always fascinated with the dirtiest places in the home... my goodness. if its not the toilet.. its the trash can... and... what is with the toothbrushes and toilets???? i just had to buy a whole new round of brushes AGAIN. and, i just remembered i have toothpaste rubbed all over my towel rack that didnt get to yet. and... the animal cookie fight... and the cereal fight... and...the piles of school papers they treated me with today.... and the wrapping paper nightmare when they decided to get it out over the weekend(dont ask.) and... another round of dishes because of my canning freezing harvesting tirade in ma kitchen.... and the lil fuzzies that they drew out of my favorite couch when they pulled all the cushions off my couch.... and jumped on the stack. ag. its not good to think on it. Itll get done in good time. I just gotta pace myself and give them a rake and a trash can. give them cleaner and papertowel... and give them the look.:angry:

:) ahhh... a days worth done well!!!! y'all take care. Im still thigh deep in apples and tomatoes... and they keep a comin.. and im not complainin... im just a doin...doin...doin..done! Its been a good year for it and... Im so thankful. I'll be back soon, take care, sweetiepies.:)

ps... daisy is so precious. She is all baby!! I so miss picking up a baby that depends on you and cries for you... give her a peck on the cheek fer me.:kiss:
