Can anyone else get onto that forum - I keep getting a Divpage with 404 error? I was able to access it this morning and not anymore?:huh:

This is what I keep getting when I also do a search for FTS and I get the above message.

The quality of service went down dramatically last March, when the forum hosting company was sold on. (You may recall the downtime that was had then.)

The whole site (not just FTS) was totally down for a few days at the end of last week. It was on again yesterday but has been up and down again since then. (It's up just now, BTW). I got diverted to another site earlier today when I tried to get to the host site. Everything seems to be back to (its inefficient) normal just now !

It's been on and off throughout late last week. Yesterday it was OK though. Virtually no new postings of late that I've run across, I guess due to the server snafus.

I just now went for a peek at FTS, and got the 'Divpage' blooper site.... :(

Neither can I and I've just tried. Got a message saying forumup was taking too long to connect. :(

It's been only sporadically accessible for me the last several days too.:angry:

It's got Xcotty and WD flummoxed as well.

Perhaps they could look into going with another board server, such as the one used by Aspew 2.

I have moved, from FreetalkScotland, to ScotsGait as it is much more reliable. Sorry Xcotty I know you are up against it with its unreliability.

Hope to see you all here soon.

:) Coming to a desktop near you soon. Yours?

My apologies to TLJ - I am just letting people know that Xcotty has made a new forum for FTS - you can access here.
